

COMEDIENNE LEIGHANN LORD

Brainy beauty Leighann Lord is a sure-to-be-star who draws audiences into her bright orbit with a carefully constructed and passionately performed act. Laughter and applause compete as Lord punches out a fast-paced, personal, persuasive monologue that shines with memories of her mother's advice about men, fantasies of babies delivered by FedEx and qualms about prisoners who get a free college education.

Leighann Lord has appeared on numerous television shows such as The View (ABC), Girls' Night Out (Lifetime), Tough Crowd (Comedy Central), Premium Blend (Comedy Central) and Stand-Up Spotlight (VH1). She also had a featured role in the film Radioland Murders with Ned Beatty.

Leighann has performed at many of the nation's best comedy venues such as New York City's Comic Strip. She has also performed at numerous colleges such as Harvard College, New York University and Texas A&M. In addition, Lord has entertained passengers on the Carnival cruise line.

Leighann has "opened" shows for comedian superstars Chris Rock and Margaret Chow.

Visiting Professor to discuss American-European relations

By Terence McHugh, '05

Has the end of the Cold War also brought an end to Euro-American cooperation? Disagreements within NATO, arguments over trade, friction with France and Germany: Are these just passing issues or do they indicate the emergence of a new world order?

St. Bonaventure's second 2005-06 Lenna Visiting Professor, Dr. Alan Dobson of the University of Dundee (Scotland), will give several lectures on the significance of these changes in America's transatlantic relations.

Transatlantic studies emphasizes cooperation and interconnection between traditional academic disciplines (such as history, political science, economics, literature and the arts) in the attempt to create a more complete view of the relationships that exist between the New World and the Old. It also emphasizes that the connections — historical and contemporary — that link these many nations suggest that they are best understood not as individual states, but as a community of constantly interacting peoples and cultures.

The topics and dates of the lectures are:

- "The 'Special Relationship' and the Special Challenges of Globalization." This exploration of the contemporary changes in U.S./U.K./European commercial relationships will begin 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 13, in the San Damiano Room of Francis Hall. A light reception will follow, hosted by the School of Business.
- "Anglo-American Friendship and Euro-American Co-operation: Past, Present, and (?) Future." Slated for 7 p.m. Monday, Oct. 17, in The Regina A. Quick Center for the Arts, Dobson's talk — and the following discussion — will provide a practical and accessible overview of the major changes and challenges in today's transatlantic relationships.

COMMUNICATIONS DAY 2005

Pulitzer Prize-winner to give keynote address

By Kevin Carey

Pulitzer Prize-winner Charles Hanley of The Associated Press will give the keynote address, "Why is Journalism Important?" for SBU's Communications Day on Friday, Oct. 21.

Hanley has been a roving correspondent assigned to the AP's International Desk in New York for most of the past 23 years. He has reported from more than 80 countries on stories ranging from wars and summit conferences, to the plight of a threatened tribe in New Guinea. He recently spent nine months in Afghanistan and Iraq reporting on the crisis and conflicts in those countries.

Hanley's international reporting has won awards from the Overseas Press Club, the AP Managing Editors association, Brown University's Feinstein media awards program, and the Korn-Ferry awards for reporting on the United Nations.

Hanley and his AP collaborators also won 11 major journalism awards, including the Pulitzer Prize for investigative journalism and a George Polk Award for their reporting on U.S. military's killing of refugees at No Gun Ri, South Korea, in 1950.

Hanley joined the AP in 1968 in Albany, N.Y., where he became a political correspondent, and then bureau news editor. He moved to AP Foreign Desk in 1976, served as AP assistant, and then as deputy managing editor. He was later named a special correspondent, a title awarded to only a few of AP journalists.
