

Guitarist Christoph Denoth and vocalists offer music from Shakespeare's time

Friends of Good Music, in association with The Regina A. Quick Center for the Arts (QCA), presents the internationally renowned Swiss guitarist Christoph Denoth, soprano Elizabeth Dabney and baritone Maksim Ivanov in the program "Mr. Dowland's Midnight."

Third in a series of seven classical music and jazz concert events, Denoth's performance will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 18, in the QCA's Rigas Family Theater.

Denoth will also conduct a master class at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 16, in Room 211 of the Quick Center. The master class is free and open to the public and all are invited to "bring your guitar."

A contemporary of Shakespeare, John Dowland, born in 1563, composed more than 100 pieces for lute that were arranged for harpsichord, viola da gamba or string ensembles during his lifetime. Denoth examined the original manuscripts preserved at Cambridge and Oxford and adapted them for guitar in the tradition of ancient music. The recording "Mister Dowland's Midnight" has won numerous international awards.

Denoth was born in Basel and studied classical guitar at various Swiss conservatories as well as in master classes with Pepe Romero, Alvaro Pierri and Oscar Ghiglia. He won international awards including the 35th Concours International de Guitare Paris and the 1995 Stresa Competition.

Denoth is a sought-after guitar soloist; he performs regularly with different orchestras and chamber ensembles and at international festivals such as the Schleswig-Holstein and Salzburg Mozarteum Festivals. He has performed at Carnegie's Weill Recital Hall in New York City and at many colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Young and rising American stars Dabney and Ivanov will join Denoth for an evening of authentic music from Shakespeare's time.

This performance is sponsored in part by Ried's Markets Inc. and the New York State Council on the Arts. For subscriptions, tickets and information, call the QCA at ext. 2494. The QCA extends its gallery hours opening one hour before, and remaining open one hour after, each performance. Regular gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Museum admission is free and open to the public, year round.

SBU to celebrate International Education Week

St. Bonaventure will join with academic and business institutions across the country when International Education Week is observed from Nov. 13-18.

At SBU, the focus of events for the week will center on international students pursuing academic programs in America and overseas academic opportunities for American students to study abroad. The University will celebrate the week with a series of events, workshops and activities for the SBU and local community.

The international dinner traditionally begins International Education Week at St. Bonaventure. Open to the public, the Sunday, Nov. 13 dinner will introduce attendants to entrees and desserts from all over the world.

A multi-cultural Mass will also be held on Nov. 13. Friars Marek Stybor, O.F.M., a native of Poland, and Jose Francis, O.F.M., from India, will celebrate the evening Mass.

The University will conduct a two-day Study Abroad Fair as well as workshops on both studying abroad and getting jobs in the global community. During the week, SBU-TV will run programming to highlight SBU study abroad opportunities, said Alice Sayegh, director of International Studies. Additionally, there will be Notice Boards focusing on countries, cultures and a global IQ quiz.

Established in 2000 by the Clinton Administration, International Education Week promotes and celebrates cultural diversity and international education. Both financial and educational institutions are encouraged to hold activities that honor this multiculturalism.

International Education Week is celebrated during the second week of November. In 2001, the Bush administration committed to continue this tradition, declaring the week of Nov. 13-18 as International Education Week this year.

St. Bonaventure University is proud to host 52 international students from more than 20 countries. Each year, more than 100 SBU students choose to spend time in another country, pursuing either a summer or semester academic program abroad.

For additional information about the week's events or information about SBU international programs, contact Alice Sayegh, director of International Studies, at ext. 2574.
