

MEET THE ARTIST RECEPTION TO BE HELD

St. Bonaventure University invites the public to "explore the cosmos" with internationally acclaimed artist Gabriella P. Mountain. A Meet the Artist reception will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday at The Regina A. Quick Center for the Arts. The reception is free and open to the public, and refreshments will be served.

Mountain's exhibition, "One with the Cosmos," shows the artist's full range and versatility over the years. It features art from every decade of her working life, including a terracotta portrait of a young Roman girl, a silver repoussé box reminiscent of a medieval reliquary created during her first years as an artist, as well as tapestries created within the last two years. The exhibition attests to restless creativity in many media, including hammered copper and brass, bronze and terra cotta sculpture, woodcarving, marble, stained glass and tapestry.

Mountain studied at the Academies of Fine Arts in Budapest and Rome before settling in the United States in 1951. Motivated by a desire to "imbue our buildings with a human feeling," her architectural commissions adorn public and private buildings throughout the United States.

She has exhibited worldwide since the 1950s and her work can be found in private collections throughout Europe and the United States. Mountain has bequeathed 124 pieces of her work to St. Bonaventure University. Three sets of hammered copper and brass repoussé doors and a colorful mosaic are permanently installed in the Quick Center's theater atrium.

Mountain continues to work, mainly in tapestry, well past "retirement" age, as she expresses "a glimpse of the awe-inspiring vastness and motion in the stellar space, adding my own colors to it." "One with the Cosmos" remains on view until April 30.
