

Pete Dominick to perform comedy act at Francis Hall Cafe

Wednesday, Oct. 18, at 9 p.m.

lighted as a stand-up comic and a personal trainer. His hilarious material parodying the world of fitness and exercise - including love and romance at the gym, the perils of the steam room and aerobics as self-defense are some of the results of his experiences. Pete's quick wit, instant likeability and unique way of engaging any audience have made him one of the most sought after M.C.'s at many of the most popular New York City Comedy Clubs.

Over the past four years Pete has visited almost every state touring colleges. "I love performing at colleges and meeting new people. The students are always grateful and love to laugh." Last summer one of Pete's dreams came true when he got to work with Jon Stewart as the audience warm up comic on The Daily Show. It went so well that Stewart and his production company offered him the same job on their new hit show "The Colbert Report." # SPORTING PINK, KICKING 'BUTTS' AND TAKING NAMES

Wear a ribbon. Make a donation. Take a cause worth fighting for and create an organization of others who want to do the same. That's exactly what students and faculty at St. Bonaventure University are doing to fight cancer in a big way.

These leaders are organizing a Colleges Against Cancer chapter for the University. Colleges Against Cancer is designed to help eliminate cancer by supporting the initiatives of the American Cancer Society on college campuses, according to the American Cancer Society Web site. The organization is applying for official club status with the Student Government Association to be University-recognized.

"The purpose of the organization is to promote and educate the student body about cancer prevention," said senior Anna Bulszewicz, Colleges Against Cancer president. "It will benefit everyone." Serving as faculty advisor is Pauline Hoffmann, assistant professor of the Russell J. Jandoli School of Journalism and Mass Communication.

St. Bonaventure University will be joining more than 115 chapters across the country in establishing advocacy, increasing awareness and prevention, promoting support groups for caretakers and survivors, and raising money for the American Cancer Society. This chapter plans to raise money for cancer research, education, advocacy and patient and family services, said St. Bonaventure University graduate Tami Gabri, director of special events for "Relay For Life" for the Amherst, N.Y., branch of the American Cancer Society.

"Our hope is that the college community will be more aware of cancer causing behaviors as well as how a healthy lifestyle can reduce the risk of developing cancer," said Gabri.

The St. Bonaventure University chapter represents the American Cancer Society's goal for 2015 of reducing cancer incidence rates by 25 percent and cancer mortality rates by 50 percent, and dramatically increasing the quality of life for cancer survivors, said Gabri.

Upcoming events planned for the 2006-2007 academic year include "The Great American Smokeout," sun safety, a breast cancer awareness program, and "Relay For Life."

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Colleges Against Cancer plans to have a table from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 12 and 13, in the Reilly Center Arena lobby to sell baked goods and ribbons. The organization also will distribute handouts to help educate the importance of leading a healthy lifestyle. All proceeds raised from this event will go to the American Cancer Society.

Last semester, SBU hosted "Relay For Life." Teams of students, faculty and staff ran or walked laps in the Reilly Center Arena to raise money for cancer research and programs. The sponsored teams keep at least one member on the track at all times during the all-night event. Music, refreshments and supporters keep the teams going. Relay for Life is fairly new to this campus but has Cancer Society, "Relay For Life" represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten, that those who face cancer will be supported and that one day cancer will be eliminated. Those involved from SBU raised over $15,000 for the American Cancer Society. Colleges Against Cancer plans to host the event in March of 2007 with the theme "Be The Cure."

Smokers mark your calendars. Kick the habit on Nov. 16 with the help of the 30th annual "Great American Smokeout." Give up smoking for the day, or maybe even for life. The organization plans on handing out patches and other products to help smokers quit.
