

at Washington and had the honor of being one of the sixty-five chosen for the 61st regiment. The Civil war took many who were dear to us; Mrs. Ireland's brother, Chas. E. Akins, deceased, belonged to Co. A, 112th N. Y. V. I. At the close of the war Mr. Ireland received his honorable discharge at Petersburg Sept. 6, 1864. Corporal Ireland has been collector for one year and is now constable of Poland township; he is also Q. M. in H. C. Sturdevant Post, No. 282, situated at his home in Kennedy, N. Y.

DOCTOR E. ISHAM,

A son of Joshua and Lucinda (Chamberlin) Isham, was born Sept. 19, 1843, at Westfield, N. Y. He was engaged in farming when the mighty war cloud rolled up from the South. Leaving his peaceful life he underwent the hardships and privations of a soldier's life when our nation was in peril, and was a brave defender of our country. Comrade Isham was enrolled Aug. 22, 1862, at Westfield, N. Y., as a private in Co. E, 154th N. Y. V. I., 1st Brig., 2d Div., 11th A. C. He was to the front in the battle of Chancellorsville May 1, 1863, and here he was wounded in the left foot by a cannon ball, resulting in amputation; he was taken to Aquia Creek field hospital, thence to Wolf St. hospital, Alexandria, and St. Elizabeth hospital, Washington, D. C. In May, 1863, he was given a thirty days' furlough and returned to be finally discharged Jan. 22, 1864, at Washington, D. C. On returning to private life again, he learned the carpenters and joiners trade and has successfully been engaged in building many years. Jan. 8, 1868, at Westfield, N. Y., he united his fortunes for life with Nancy Bush, a daughter of Henry and Polly (Macfee) Bush. Mrs. Isham was born Nov. 25, 1844, at Cherry Valley, N. Y. Four children were given to this marriage, Arlington D., Stella V., Claud E. and Ernest J. Comrade Isham has a noble, patriotic ancestry; his grandfather, Daniel Isham, espoused the cause of the Colonists and fought in the Revolution; his father, Joshua Isham, was a drummer boy in the war of 1812. Anson G., a brother, was a member of Co. E, 112th N. Y. V. I. Private Isham is an honored member of William Sackett Post, No. 324, and an influential worthy citizen of Westfield, New York.

RAYMOND H. JACKSON.

Raymond H. Jackson, Sergeant of Co. C, 11th U. S. Reg. Inf., was one of three brothers serving in the ranks of "Uncle Sam" during the civil war. He was born Aug. 21, 1849, near Hartfield, N. Y. His parents, Josiah and Rosetta (Howard) Jackson, are now sleeping in the "City of the silent dead." When only a lad of sixteen years, Mr.

Jackson enlisted Feb. 7, 1864, at Buffalo, N. Y. His command was assigned to the 2d Brig., 2d Div., 5th A. C. Comrade Jackson went immediately into active service, participating in the battles of Five Forks, Hatcher's Run and Petersburg. He was detailed for six weeks to do guard duty at Libby prison, Va. In February, 1864, at City Point, Mr. Jackson was transferred into Co. C, of first Bat., 11th Reg. Inf., and was confined in hospital at Richmond, Va., for two months, on account of disability. Sergeant Jackson had served his country faithfully, and Feb. 6, 1867, he was honorably discharged at Camp Grant, Richmond, Va. Returning home, he once more resumed the quiet life on his farm, and was happily married Jan. 5, 1871, at Hartfield, N. Y., to Addie Delaney, the daughter of Martin and Clarissa (Todd) Delaney. She was born June 14, 1847, at Stockton, N. Y. Grace, an adopted daughter, came to make their home complete. Mr. Jackson is now pleasantly located on his farm near Hartfield, N. Y.

NATHAN B. JENNER.

Nathan B. Jenner enlisted at Dunkirk, N. Y., Sept. 9, 1864, serving first in Co. H, later in Co. F, 90th N. Y. Inf., 1st Brig., 1st Div., 19th A. C.; his brother, Timothy Lewis Jenner, also enlisted in the same regiment. Ogilva Lowe, brother of Mrs. Jenner, belonging to a Pa., Regt., served three years in the war. Nathan Jenner fought in the battle of Cedar Creek and did a great deal of hard faithful service in camp and on picket duty; heroically fulfilling all duties for his country's sake. Comrade Jenner received his honorable discharge at Washington, D. C., June 3, 1865, and is now an active member of James M. Brown Post, No. 235, of Jamestown, N. Y. Nathan B. Jenner is a son of Timothy B. and Philinda (Eddy) Jenner, and was born in Harmony, N. Y., April 21, 1838. On Jan. 8, 1867, Mr. Jenner and Miss Jennette Lowe were united in marriage at Corry, Pa. Mrs. Jenner is a daughter of Thomas and Alethea (Chapman) Lowe, and was born in Bear Lake, Pa., April 11, 1848. Three daughters and one son, Delilah, Cora Bell, Maude and Thomas L., are now the life and light of Comrade Jenner's home. Mr. Jenner was previously married to Miss Mary Cowels and two children, Carrie and Frank, added their blessing to this first union. This large, happy family of seven children, never tire of hearing their father recall the days of '61, and learning the lesson of true patriotism as shown in his faithful devotion to the flag.

PETER H. JIMMAIN.

When the tyrant—war—stalked through this fair land choosing the purest and best for his cruel service, three brothers were taken from the home of George and Susan (Cross) Jimmain. Charles and George
