

Milligan, a former well known man, was blown to pieces in an nitro glycerine explosion at Marietta, O., last week Thursday.

Orlando.

Walt cut his thumb very badly cutting heading at his factory last Monday.

They are all through having in and are very busy harvesting their grain.

Miss returned from Springville where she has been visiting Mrs. Prior.

Blackmon got quite a fall well drillers from Sugartown are putting down a well on the corner owned by Mrs. C. Lock.

There are plenty and lots of pick-

Clark and wife entertained the wife of Buffalo, last held here last week for 9 p.

London visited friends in last week.

Reynolds and wife called on last week.

was entertained friends last week.

FIVE POINTS.

of Ohio is visiting Mrs. Herman Smith.

and wife of Salaman Smith's Sunday

C. W. Clark of Ell brothers here

family of Little R. B. Kidney's

Rev. N. F. Langmade.

The East Otto News says of this distinguished clergyman who was well known in this country:

The Rev. Nathan F. Langmade, whose sudden death was announced in these columns last week, was a native of the town of Yorkshire, this country. He was born in that town on September 21st, 1823.

The deceased was a son of Stephen and Asenath Langmade, and resided in Yorkshire until his marriage in June 1847, to Miss Lucius H. Bailey of Groveland, Livingston Co., when the young couple began house-keeping at Arcade. They remained in Arcade for about seven years, when they moved to Yorkshire, where Mr. Langmade began his work as a minister of the gospel. Four years later, at East Ashford, he was ordained in the Baptist faith.

Mr. Langmade served in the Civil war from October 1864 until its close, as chaplain in Co. D., 154th N. Y. Vol. After he left the army he preached in East Ashford and since then he has held charges in Yorkshire, Freedom, East Otto, Hume, Great Valley, Humphrey, Five Mile, Cattaraugus, Annin Creek, Pa. and Turtle Creek, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Langmade were the parents of three children, but one of whom, Mrs. F. C. Larrabee of East Otto, is now living.

Mr. Langmade's character was above reproach, and his life was filled with kind and benevolent acts. He was conscientious and true to his principles, and labored in his chosen work with zeal and enthusiasm. It can be truthfully said that the world was made better and happier through his having lived in it.

A Mother Tells How She Saved Her Little Daughter's Life.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last

WHIG STREET.

Mrs. Fred Winsor of Dublin called at Mrs. D. Fisher's today.

Mrs. S. A. Markham visited daughter, Mrs. Frank Cross, in Valley, recently.

Miss Emma Cross of Great Valley is staying with her grandmother Mrs. S. A. Markham.

Mrs. De Witt Wood of Little Valley visited at C. W. Field's part of week.

Messrs. Floyd and Bert H wheeled to Bradford, last week Tuesday.

Mrs. Ina Meahan and Miss H. Whipple of Row City are visiting their mother, Mrs. W. Whipple, a few weeks.

Mr. H. D. Leach and W. Wheeler were at Line Lake, Friday.

C. A. Field and family and M. C. W. Field and Mrs. D. W. visited near Elliettsville, one day last week.

Emery Winship and family visited near Elliettsville, Sunday.

STAND BEHIND THE PRESIDENT.

Governor Roosevelt's Emphatic Assurance on the Philippine Situation.

Governor Roosevelt was recently summoned to Washington by President McKinley for a consultation on matters connected with the Philippine campaign. Particularly, the president consulted with him on the appointments to be made, offering the new regiments now being organized to re-uniform General Otis forces in Luzon. After a visit to the president Governor Roosevelt, in a brief interview, gave an emphatic endorsement of the president's course in attempting to put down the insurrection and, as he has on all occasions, spoke with patriotic vigor on the American policy in the Asiatic Islands.

"Of course, any American worthy of the same must stand behind the president in his resolute purpose to bring the insurrection in the Philippines to a