

COMPANY APPRECIATES THE HELP OF COMRADES IN DISPLAY

St. Cloud Tribune

OL-25-1917

The officers of the St. Cloud Development Company are extremely gratified at the interest that is being taken in the agricultural exhibit in their office.

During the past week the following produce has been brought in:

By John A. Prather, Co. F, 6th Kan. Cav., an extra fine boll of Texas cotton.

By Mrs. J. A. McCarthy, some very handsome and useful articles made from the dish-rag gourd.

By Mrs. Charles Brown, some large gourds.

By Alonzo Lindetman, Co. C, 154th N. Y. V. I., two radishes of extraordinary size.

By D. B. Hull, Co. A, 148th N. Y. V. I., a perfect grapefruit cut from a tree planted in 1914. This fruit is one of the Duncan variety.

By Enoch Albritton, some wild guavas.

Mr. Paschal Strode, Massachusetts avenue, between Seventh and Eighth, presented a stalk of mustard growing in a box.

Mr. J. H. Boswell, Pennsylvania and Twelfth, presented two heads of lettuce growing in boxes and an extra fine basket of strawberries from his beautiful garden.

Mr. S. C. Partin, of the Partin Settlement, presented two fine heads of Chinese cabbage from his farm west of this city. These heads of cabbage are the best that we have ever seen. Mr. Partin is a very successful farmer and likes to show the people what can be grown in Florida.

From Mike Peterson, a very handsome bunch of seedling oranges.

James M. Johnston, manager of the St. Cloud Development Company; Dr. N. A. Strait, of Washington, D. C., and Enoch M. Albritton visited Mr. E. F. Lockwood's grove at Narcoossee, and brought a few samples of his fruit back with them. This grove of Mr. Lockwood's is one of the best in this part of the state, and Mr. Lockwood is clearing additional land to plant more trees. The fruit on this grove is as bright as gold and is large and very juicy.

Notwithstanding the fact that it is claimed that rhubarb or pie plant will not grow in this section, Mr. A. H. Church, Co. H, 94th N. Y. V. I., presented the exhibition with three fine stalks grown by him at his residence Indiana avenue and Fifteenth street.
